

The Pathum Wan District is one of the youngest in Bangkok. Although the region is best known for shopping, it offers much more in terms of culture ranging from hundred-year-old Buddhist temples to modern art galleries. Here are just a few attractions to check out while you are there.

WHAT TO SEE

The Erawan Shrine

With its central location and beautiful craftsmanship, it's no surprise that the Erawan Shrine is a favorite among locals and tourists alike. This beautiful Hindu shrine was originally constructed in 1956 to ward off bad karma but has since become a mainstay attraction in the local community.

Wat Pathum Wanaram

The Pathum Wanaram temple is a perfect example of Bangkok's past blending with its future. Juxtaposed between two towering malls, this quaint, 160-year-old site is one of Bangkok's oldest Buddhist temples, containing the ashes of many Thai Royal family members.

Chulalongkorn University

You don't need to be a student to appreciate Thailand's oldest and most prestigious university. Established in 1917, Chulalongkorn University is scattered with historical artifacts and architecture that make it a pleasure to walk through.
